

MOVE AGAINST WARSAW FAILS TO CHECK RUSS ACTIVITY NEAR CRACOW

VON HINDENBERG'S BRILLIANT MOVE IN POLAND IS REGARDED AS CLEVER STRATEGY.

FORTRESS IN DANGER

Great Russian Army Does Not Waver in Advance Against Important Austrian Stronghold.

Turkey's explanation of her act of firing on the American flag at Smyrna has not been submitted, and the navy department at Washington received no detailed report from Captain Decker of the cruiser Tennessee, one of whose launches was under fire. The Washington authorities were confident, however, that satisfactory amends would be made by Turkey and that no complications would result.

Austria is calling for more soldiers. The older men of the landsturm of 1870 to 1890 have been summoned to the colors.

Austria apparently has the upper hand in her war with Serbia. Reports from Vienna state that the pursuit of the enemy is being carried further and that the Serbian retreat at places is attended with heavy losses. Unofficial German advices stated that Russia had sent troops to assist the Serbians, but the authenticity of this report was in doubt. Since such a movement of forces would involve a long sea voyage around the continent of Europe, or the invasion of Bulgaria or Roumania, neutral countries.

Violent fighting has been resumed within a two hour ride of the gates of Paris. At Tracy-La-Val, where the main battle line of the north swings to the eastward, at the point nearest Paris, a German advance led to a violent encounter. The Germans attempted to recapture the town won by the allies a few days ago, but according to the French war office statement today they were repulsed with heavy losses.

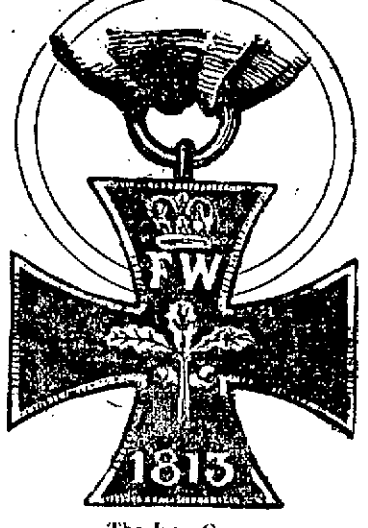

In Flanders the artillery duel described during the last few days as of furious intensity, has become still more violent, on the part of the Germans at least, as elsewhere the opposing forces are holding fast to their main positions.

An official German communication says that heavy fighting has been resumed in the Argonne forest. A heavy loss is said to have been inflicted on the enemy. In a battle between two squadrons of aeroplanes, it is said, one aircraft of the allies and one of the Germans were lost.

Germany's new attack on the Russian army in the center of the eastern battle stood out conspicuously today as of chief importance in the European war. The sudden assault of the Germans in Russian Poland, from which territory they were driven in disorder, have lent a new aspect to this campaign.

Russian military officials admit a reverse in this territory, and Berlin is celebrating a great victory, but the meagerness of authentic information from the front makes it impossible to determine the extent of the importance of the German successes. Meanwhile Russia is proceeding with her other two ventures in the threefold campaign. Her troops to the north, Petrograd announces, are penetrating steadily into East Prussia, while to the south they are closing in on Cracow, ready in an attempt to crush the Russians.

COVETED BY THE KAISER'S SOLDIERS

The Iron Cross.

Refugees from Belgium say that West Flanders, which is virtually cut off from the rest of the world, continues to be the scene of incessant military operations. They speak of a scene of shot and shell and devastation with continuous cannonading and endless processions of the wounded. The French and British are reported to have captured a small Belgian town. Paris reports that the hopes of the allies are again rising; that they believe that the Germans are fast weakening, but there was no tangible evidence to indicate that the grip of the Germans on Belgium and France was being shaken. Field Marshal Lord Roberts, whose body in the presence of King George and all military leaders not at the front, was placed at rest beside Wellington, Nelson and other celebrated men in the country's history, in St. Paul's cathedral.

Petrograd, Nov. 19.—The German advance is considerable along the narrow battle front on the west bank of the river Vistula is regarded by Russian military observers as a fast weakening, but there was no tangible evidence to indicate that the grip of the Germans on Belgium and France was being shaken. Field Marshal Lord Roberts, whose body in the presence of King George and all military leaders not at the front, was placed at rest beside Wellington, Nelson and other celebrated men in the country's history, in St. Paul's cathedral.

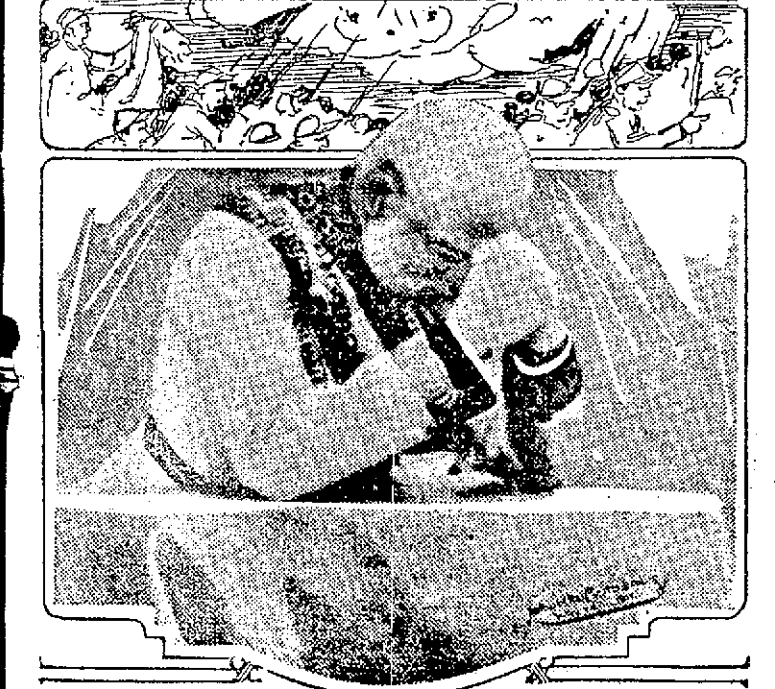

This plan also is calculated by the military authorities to relieve the German troops in East Prussia now giving way along the entire line by rendering a further Russian advance untenable. Despite this German demonstration, the converging line of the Russian advance on the Austrian fortress of Cracow are steadily progressing, the Russians say, having now reached within twenty-five miles of that point.

The Austrians are stubbornly contesting the Russian offensive and are taking advantage of every block and creek in any way available for defense, but the Russian columns in South Poland have already traversed the last river between them and the fortress of Cracow. The Russian troops form two fronts, one facing Cracow and the other facing the Carpathian mountains, where yesterday they recaptured the fortress to two of the most important passes into Hungary.

Admits Russian Repulse. The Hague via London, Nov. 19.—A Russian staff officer passing through here had this to say as to the cause of the present German success in Poland:

"The Russian army in Poland maintained three times as many cavalry as the Germans. This cavalry swarmed after the retreating Germans and when the Germans suddenly stopped, the Russian cavalry was dashed to pieces, like migrating birds flying against a rock."

AUSTRIA'S EMPEROR PRAYS FOR VICTORY

Emperor Franz Josef of Austria has permitted to be taken this photo of himself at prayer. The picture has been circulated all over Austria, together with the prayer, which is as follows:

"Father in Heaven, Ruler of the Universe, Have pity for him who bows before Thee. I did not start the strife or strew the earth with blood. Surrounded with foes and envy I called my people to the defense by arms. Let Thy mercy surround our lines. Ours will be the victory and Thine the honor."

CARRANZA SOLDIERS JOIN VILLA'S ARMY TO ATTACK CAPITAL

Garrisons All Along Villa's Route in Southwest March Surrender Without Resistance.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Villa's seasoned veterans hurrying southward on their way to Mexico City and Obregon's artillery, loyal to Carranza, proceeding northward for a defensive campaign administration officials today had dispatches from American representatives indicating that actual hostilities in the southern republic appeared inevitable.

3000 Carranza troops voluntarily surrendered to General Villa when he took Leo, and other garrisons all along the line, are changing allegiance to the northern chief, as he marches on toward Mexico City.

Laredo, Texas, Nov. 19.—Discovery of an alleged filibustering plot against Carranza, Mexico, announced here today. Four Mexicans were arrested here late yesterday and another in San Antonio. They were said to be former Villa men. They were charged with recruiting on American soil.

Fighting Begins. Aguas Calientes, Mexico, delayed, Nov. 19.—General Villa's forces have driven the Carranza forces occupied the town without resistance. Villa's trains have approached within fifteen miles of Queretaro, but the main group is concentrated at Chapulco. The Carranza garrisons have retired before the sweep of Villa's men, but are reported as fortifying Queretaro in preparation to resist the Villa advance. There is little probability of a battle for four or five days.

Kill Priests. El Paso, Tex., Nov. 19.—A military bulletin from Guadalupe received here today says that four Roman Catholic priests have been executed by the Carranza forces. The military governor in the state of Michoacan. It was declared the clerical had headed an uprising. Several similar uprisings of the people against alleged confiscation and desecration of church property has been reported from several points in southwestern Mexico.

LORD ROBERTS WAS LAID AT REST TODAY GERMANS PASS DAY WITH NO NEWSPAPERS

English Field Marshal's Body Was Borne Through London Streets to St. Paul's Cathedral.

London, Nov. 19.—The body of Field Marshal Lord Roberts was borne through the streets of London today to its resting place in St. Paul's cathedral.

The streets were lined with troops, while hundreds of thousands of civilians stood with bare heads in a cold rain as the funeral went by. The cortege reached St. Paul's at noon, where funeral services were held before a reverent throng, including King George.

The body will be laid alongside of the remains of Wellington, Nelson and other famous Britons. Lord Roberts died from natural causes last week at the headquarters of the British army in Persia, and was returned to England soil yesterday.

RUSSIANS AND TURKS IN BLACK SEA FIGHT

Turkish Ship Injured in Mixup With Czar's Fleet.—Later Report Hands Fate to Russians.

Petrograd, Nov. 19.—There has been a naval encounter in the Black Sea between Russian and Turkish warships. No definite news of the outcome has been received here as yet beyond the fact that the Turkish liner Goeben sustained serious injuries.

Tells of Battle. Berlin, Nov. 19.—A Turkish fleet has engaged a Russian squadron composed of two battleships and five cruisers off Sebastopol, according to official reports reaching Berlin from Constantinople today.

One of the Russian battleships was seriously damaged, the other went down, with the Turkish ships in pursuit, fled to Sebastopol.

CROWN PRINCE DINING ON RAW TURNIPS.

Cologne, Nov. 19.—The Gazette prints the following story from a wounded soldier, telling of the German crown prince dining on raw turnips.

"He had advanced rather rapidly and got out of touch with the commissary wagons," writes the wounded man. "As we passed a turnip field we soldiers took advantage of the opportunity and filled up our turnips. For a time the crown prince observed us, showing considerable amusement at our energetic activity. Then he stepped from the circle of his officers and came toward me and laughing called to me: 'When in need the devil will eat flies. Hand me one of those turnips.' 'I just than had a nice fat one in my coat, which had cleaned, and, being nearest to the prince, I handed it to him. He heartily bit into it and remarked, 'Not so bad after all.'"

DAMAGING POWER OF GERMAN TORPEDOES.

Basle, Nov. 19.—Commenting on the feat of the German submarine U-9 against the British cruiser, a naval expert makes the following significant comment in the Nachrichten concerning the remarkable power of German torpedoes:

"The news that one of the older submarines had sunk a modern English cruiser, armored at that, must have astonished the entire world. Laymen should have been the most astonished of all, for the feat of the U-9 revealed a close secret which has not in the least been diminished by the mortars in importance—viz., the enormous explosive power of German torpedoes. It had heretofore been supposed that a single hit would sink a cruiser of 1000 to 2000 tons. The U-9, however, sank three hits were considered necessary for larger vessels, and these should be good hits."

AWAITS DETAILS OF SHOOTING BY TURKS AT THE U. S. LAUNCH

Government Will Take No Action Until the Report is Received Here.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Although the navy department continued every effort to get a further report to furnish the missing link in the chain of incidents connected with the firing upon the cruiser Tennessee's launch by the Turkish forces at Smyrna, nothing had been heard early today from Captain Decker or Ambassador Morgenthau.

As nearly a week was taken in getting the message through the state department from the ambassador from Constantinople, little information is expected from him before Captain Decker is heard from. Yesterday he got through his first report of the incident with a few hours.

NOT TO RE-OPEN THE STOCK EXCHANGE NOW

Abandoned Owing to Unfair Tactics by Some Traders.

New York, Nov. 19.—The officials of the stock exchange announced this afternoon that the cause of unforeseen difficulties the plan to reopen the exchange for dealing in bonds has been indefinitely postponed. Earlier in the day it was officially stated that trading in this class of securities would be resumed on Saturday.

It is rumored also that soon after the announcement of the stock exchange opening on Saturday large blocks of bonds were offered in unlisted market at prices several points below the recent high level indicating that reaction to normal trading might be attained by considerable liquidation. These and other factors when brought to attention of the governor of the stock exchange caused a hasty cancellation of the plans previously announced.

KEYSTONE SUFFERS IN ANNUAL CONVENTION

Scranton, Pa., Nov. 19.—With Mrs. Frank Keyser, borough president, presiding, the forty-sixth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Suffrage Association was opened here today. Sessions will continue until the night of November 20.

Determined efforts have been made in the state to win the ballot for the women, and leaders promised to unfold plans which would bring the realization of an early realization of its object. One of the features of the convention will be a celebration over the partial victory of the suffragists in Pittsburgh recently, when they succeeded in putting through the constitution of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women a resolution providing for the "individual" endorsement of equal franchise movement by the delegates. It was carried by a vote of 350 to 57.

FRANCE STRIKES OFF ALL GERMAN NAMES ON LIST

Bordeaux, Nov. 19.—President Poincare issued a decree today striking from the role of the legend of honor the names of all Germans thereon. "When the French government," he stated, "declared the legend of honor upon foreigners, the decree reads, 'It did not do so merely in recognition of individual merit, but also and above all in recognition of the nation to which the foreigners thus accorded belong.'"

President Poincare asserts that the Germans in conducting war systematically violating all the rules of international law by acts of cruelty and barbarism without precedent in the history of humanity which have excited against Germany the universal conscience.

BRIEUX TELLS HOW THE DRAMA HELPS SOCIETY

New York, Nov. 19.—Distinguished representatives of American culture will be in session today and tomorrow, when the sixth annual meeting of the American Academy of Arts and Letters and the National Institute of Arts and Letters convenes here.

The morning session with William Dean Howells presiding, was given by an address from the French dramatist, Brieux, who, after expressing the formal greetings of the Academie Francaise, spoke in French on the subject of the drama as an instrument for social amelioration.

An excellent audience greeted M. Brieux, and his address, setting forth some of the theories and facts which led him to write "Damaged Goods," was warmly applauded.

Robert Herrick, the American novelist, spoke on the quality of imagination in American life. This afternoon the members and guests heard a concert by the New York Symphony Society with Walter Damrosch conducting. The program of compositions will be composed of compositions by members of the institute.

DIXIE'S SONS AND DAUGHTERS WEAR COTTON TO HELP SOUTH

Washington, Nov. 19.—Belles and beaux, matrons and chivaliers of Dixie will gather tonight to tango and to trot a "cotton ball" given by the Southern Society of Washington in a telephonic effort to aid the cotton situation in the south. All of the women and most of the men guests have pledged themselves to wearing blue or cotton clothes from tip to toe.

Wives of cabinet officers and other high officials are patronesses of the ball.

VICE-PRESIDENT McKENNA RETIRES FROM SERVICE OF C. M. & ST. P. ROAD

Chicago, November 19.—E. W. McKenna, vice president of the C. M. & St. P. railroad, one of the pioneer railroad men of this country has resigned today. He will retire it was said. He began service in 1864.

CAPITAL ENGINEERS TO BANQUET TONIGHT

Washington, Nov. 19.—The annual dinner of the Washington Society of Engineers will be held tonight.

TWO SMALL CHILDREN TAKEN TO SPARTA HOME

On the order of the municipal court, Orville and Florence Hansen, aged nine and ten years, were taken to the Sparta home for dependent children by Postmaster Asa Anderson today. Testimony was taken in court that the children's father was dead and that their mother had been negligent in caring for them.

Property changes hands daily because it has been advertised in the real estate column of Gazette and Ad.

FRENCH CLAIM GAIN DRIVING BACK FOE TO NORTH OF PARIS

GERMAN OFFENSIVE IN AISNE REGION RESULTS FAVORABLY TO THE ALLIES.

NO CHANGE IN BELGIUM

Inundation of Territory Between Dixmude and Nieupoort Now Renders Artillery Fire Ineffective.

Paris, Nov. 19.—The French official announcement given out by the war office this afternoon says that yesterday's increased activity in the artillery fire, particularly between the sea coast and the river Lys, were no infantry attacks in this region.

The text of the communication follows:

"Yesterday the north was marked by a renewal of activity on the part of the enemy's artillery, particularly between the sea coast and the river Lys.

"Between the Oise and the Aisne, the operations in the vicinity of Tracy-Le-Val were very favorable for our troops.

"It will be remembered that we took possession of the village of Dixmude days ago. The day before yesterday the Germans endeavored to recapture it. After having captured our first trench line, they succeeded in making their way as far as the second square of the village. Here, however, a vigorous counter attack delivered by our Algerian contingents, drove the enemy back from him all the ground we had lost and inflicted on him very heavy losses.

"In the Argonne we have maintained our positions. Along the rest of the front there is nothing new to report."

FLICKE HINDER FIGHTING

Brussels, Belgium, Nov. 19.—Fighting between the German and allied forces in the inundated territory between Dixmude and Nieupoort on the north coast is now frequently carried on in boats.

Artillery for the first time in the war has proved ineffective, but personal bravery and enterprise are counting for much and a battle is beginning to resemble the classical siege of Leyden in the sixteenth century with raids and counter-raids by men in flat-bottomed boats.

Two corporals of the 7th Belgian Infantry have been made Knights of the Leopold order for transporting forty men, including fifteen severely wounded, across the inundations under heavy fire.

The battle in its present state, army officials say, may last several months.

GERMANS EVACUATE TOWN

Paris, Nov. 19.—A brilliant attack by British troops and French sailors caused the Germans to evacuate Schoorbeke, Belgium, which is practically surrounded by the waters from the broken dikes, according to word received here from the battle front.

There is talk here as to what has happened at Chauvancourt and the battle near St. Mihiel on the Lorraine frontier. On Tuesday the French official communication reported that the French troops had occupied the western part of Chauvancourt and yesterday's official statement said that this part of the town had been blown up by the Germans, who apparently had burned the place before they retired.

BERLIN, VIA WIRELESS, 19.—A GERMAN OFFICIAL COMMUNICATION GIVEN OUT IN BERLIN TODAY SAYS:

"The situation in West Flanders and north of France unchanged. A German aviation squadron, composed of some of the enemy's aviators while making a reconnaissance flight, and caused them to descend, one of them falling. One of our flying machines is missing.

"A fierce French attack in the region of Servan on the western slopes of the Argonne forest was repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy. Our losses were none.

"In the eastern theatre of the war the newly commenced battles are proceeding."

SHEBOYGAN COMPANY MANUFACTURES OXYGEN.

Sheboygan, Wis., Nov. 19.—Whatever effect the European war, the Democratic administration, or the price of far overcoats in Senegambia has on our business, the oxygen business is fine.

The Universal Oxygen company of this city has been running night and day, Sundays included, for the past three months. And now it is going to double its capacity. It is looking to the company manufactured 80,000 cubic feet of oxygen. The gas is shipped in high pressure steel containers, and is used in welding concerns all over the country. Additional containers are on the way here from Germany.

The demand for oxygen in this form is increasing and new plants are springing up in all parts of the United States.

SONS OF VETERANS PAY HOMAGE TO THEIR DADS

Boston, Nov. 19.—Today is the fifty-first anniversary of Lincoln's Gettysburg address and the occasion is being celebrated throughout the state of Massachusetts by the Sons of Veterans organizations. The various camps are holding "Veterans' Night" with special exercises.

War Maps and Peace Maps

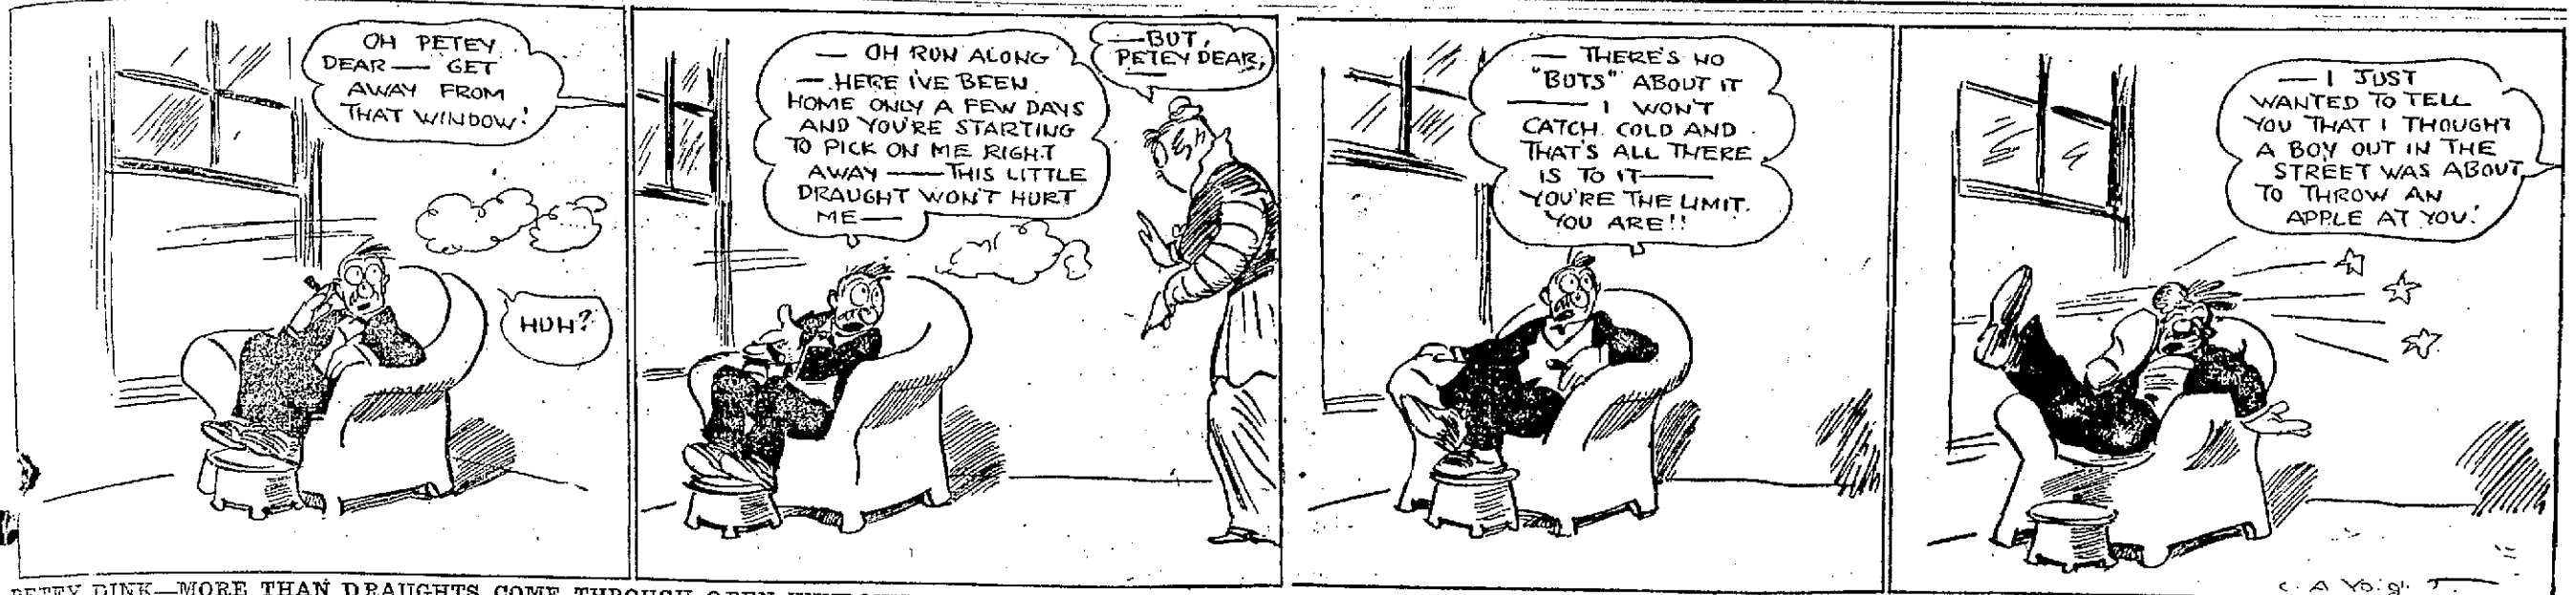

Far more interesting than the war maps that mark the devastation of armies, are the peace maps that picture the great constructive work on this continent.

North America is finding itself. It is developing its own resources; developing its strength.

The advertising columns in this and other leading newspapers are the American peace maps.

They tell of the march of industry, the great work of construction and upbuilding.

No man can be a daily reader of advertising without being a daily patriot.

BELOIT FRATS WAR OVER GRIDIRON STAR

Night Attacks, Skirmishes and Daring Maneuvers Figure in Fight Over Carl Eggebrecht.

Beloit, Wis., Nov. 19.—We, too, the people loving population of this hot-tempered town, and our dream, like Belgium and Luxembourg, nor dreamed that Eggebrecht, the football star, would bring grim war all over us.

At night it has come. The Phi Kappa Psi are in conflict with the Delta Phi Epsilon. The battle line extends all the way to Rockport. The wounded are everywhere. Eggebrecht is a prisoner. The Delta Phi Epsilon, whose neutral it was supposed to be guaranteed, has been transformed into a prisoner of war.

He looked good to coach. When the great Eggebrecht first set foot upon the campus of Beloit college, nobody paid attention to him—nobody excepting the football coach, who thought he looked like material. Presently it was demonstrated that Eggebrecht was more than material—he was finished goods. The star of the season, the wonder of the season, the most desirable debutante of all that passed under the approving eyes of the various fraternal rush leaders.

Phi Kappa Psi claims to have spied Eggebrecht first, and certain it is that Phi Kappa Psi was first to get a part of the hero's trail. Phi Kappa Psi began Eggebrecht's first and most ardent suitor, and Phi Kappa Psi proposed to Eggebrecht in these glowing words:

Eggebrecht, my beauty, are you to us more fair than Helen's beauty, that began the ten years' Trojan fuss?

Great Eggebrecht! Will you join our frat?

Save Half Back Accepted.

The newly formed coloratura half back, according to the White Book of the Phi Kappa Psi's, solemnly accepted this heroic offer and became the betrothed of the fraternity. But the Delta Phi Epsilon were jealous. They coveted their neighbor's fiance. And they were crafty. They followed Eggebrecht like Helen of Troy, who took the city of Troy. They appointed a post of their own, and waited the proper moment to use it. The moment came. It was in a recent football game. Eggebrecht smacked the enemy's whole left wing and crashed his way down the field for forty yards or more. Then the Delta Phi yelled: "Who checked?"

That's right.

Who wrecked?

Eggebrecht—

That's right.

Eggebrecht!

Correct!

Liked That Poetry Too.

Then Eggebrecht, according to the best of colored information, permitted himself to be engaged by two fraternities at once. The Delta Phi Epsilon lacked something of the classic grace of the Phi Kappa Psi composition, but it obviously came from the heart.

War for the possession of Eggebrecht was inevitable. The two fraternities are fighting chiefly with fists. The best cases of black eyes and two missing teeth, one on each side, are to be seen.

Tonight Eggebrecht is the prisoner of the Phi Kappa Psi.

A student has indicated an additional resemblance between Eggebrecht and Helen of Troy. Helen's origin, it will be remembered, was an egg. Eggebrecht begins the same way.

WISCONSIN NATIONAL GUARD WILL CONDUCT MARKSMANSHIP MATCHES

Milwaukee, Nov. 19.—The Wisconsin National Guard is going to develop the marksmanship of its men. Plans have been completed for a series of team matches this winter which will wind up with a championship in the spring.

The officers' association has authorized a trophy for the winning company in the inter-regimental matches.

Company A will be aligned with the First Infantry, while the Tenth Battalion will compete with the Third Infantry.

The companies winning first, second and third places will be given engraved certificates.

The highest score made by each company, officers and enlisted men during the gallery season from Nov. 1 to March 31 will count. The company figure will be obtained by taking the two highest scores of five shots apiece made by each member of the company and dividing the total score by the number of officers and men on the company roll during the period of firing.

A match will be held between the leading companies in each regiment. Each team will comprise sixteen members, either officers or enlisted men. The places of competition will be announced later in regimental orders.

These matches will take place some time in April and the two winning teams will compete in the inter-regimental match some time in April or early in May.

Free to the Public, time tables from all transportation lines in United States. Also descriptive literature of interest to travelers. The Gazette Travel Bureau will also furnish information on rates, etc., on the various transportation lines going to any particular point.

Columbia university had only two paying sports, according to the recent statement of the year ending August 31. Basketball cleared $1,030.43 and baseball $450.15. The greatest loss was the crew, the amount being $6,328.30, with no gate receipts.

His thumb sound again, Champion Johnny Kilbane has begun active training for his coming clash with Joe Mandot, which is set for December 7. Kilbane donned the gloves for the first time Friday, and landed his sparring partners some stiff laces. "The thumb's all O. K. again," chirped the little champion, as he wound up the day's work.

Bob Polwell, wizard coach of the Washington and Jefferson college team, need not remain buried at Washington, Pa., if he cares to tackle a bigger football proposition. If Polwell says the word he will be installed as coach at the University of Pennsylvania next season. George Brooke, present coach of Penn's football team, for 1915, but if Penn can secure Polwell, a former Penn star lineman, Brooke's contract will be disposed of. Washington and Jefferson authorities will put up a big fight to retain Polwell.

This certainly is a tough old world. Chicago scribbles this fall have written much about the secret meetings between Charlie Weegman, owner of the Cubs, and Charlie Taft, owner of the Colts. Every meeting furnished a story about Weegman's dealings for the Cubs. But there should be no more of those stories. Someone has let the cat out of the bag. Several of Weegman's restaurants are located in buildings owned by Taft. They meet to discuss lease, improvements, etc.

MAHAN IS SENSATION OF YEAR IN FOOTBALL

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

(By Hal Sherman.)

New York, Nov. 13.—Eddie Mahan has this year proved the biggest sensation of the season. If Yale has any hopes of holding Harvard through their grit, or otherwise to a nothing, nothing score on Saturday the Sons of Eli will have to hold the Crimson machine back of the Blue's forty yard line. Any time Harvard gets that close to the uprights Mahan's toe is dangerous.

It's true that Mahan failed on five of his seven trials at a field goal against the Tigers, but Mahan was still suffering from a wrecked knee and he hadn't been in tough scrimmage for two weeks or more before that battle. Since that time, Mahan has fully recovered, and he has been shooting the ball through the uprights from all angles a half dozen times or more every day.

Don't get swelled up when somebody bites you. Take a auto ride. They may want you for ballast. A county fair is some pumpkins.

That Tiger game worked wonders for Harvard. From the time Harvard's hopes were suddenly dented by the announcement that Charlie Brickley would have to give up his appendix and any chance of ever representing the Crimson again on the gridiron.

The gloom that fell over the Cambridge institution still hung in thick and opaque wreaths about the stadium. Mahan had built up his entire machine and every play around Brickley and the best educated, and most highly trained toe that has bootied a football over a goal post since Walter Eckersall.

Then Mahan jumped to the fore with such efficiency and vim that for Harvard it was nothing more than "The King is dead; long live the King." Mahan has literally stepped into Brickley's shoes as if to the manner born. Many were astonished at Mahan's great work. As a matter of fact, it wasn't wonderful at all. It was merely that Mahan, great player that he was, could not be seen with a spyglass when Brickley was kicking goals, smashing interference and cracking open defenses. With the brilliancy of Brickley's velvet, Mahan shines out like the star he is.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS
With the newly established Federal Reserve Banks now in operation the business world has gained a tone of confidence that has been missing for some months past. Even the Wall Street Journal becomes optimistic over the future and says:

"Not the least gratifying spectacle in connection with the opening of the twelve Federal Reserve banks throughout the country, is the hearty support and co-operation extended by the national bankers themselves. This co-operation has been most marked in New York City, where the banks were unopposed in their contributions of gold when making initial reserve payments into the new institution. They did not have to do this since the Federal Reserve Act gave them the privilege of paying in half their reserve in discountable paper."

"Washington should take cognizance of this fact. In the lively discussion over the currency legislation last year the banks of this center were quite free with their criticism. But, as pointed out at the time, their criticism had the object of getting the best possible banking measure put on the statute books. Now when the fight is over the New York bankers are ready to bring the great resources at their command to give the new institution a favorable sendoff."

"Thus, it can never be said that the Federal Reserve banks were hampered at the start, despite the fact that they opened their doors for business in the midst of the greatest crisis the world has ever witnessed. A few months ago the difficulties confronting the financial situation on account of the European war looked well-nigh hopeless. But little by little they have been straightened out. What remains still to be done may also be accomplished with little embarrassment, and the Federal Reserve banks can now contribute their support."

"It is a curious commentary, but none the less interesting, that the national banking system, when passed by Congress over fifty years ago, also had to face the exigencies of a great war. The national bank circulation first issued then marked of the greatest necessity. It was then devised by a Government to sell its bonds, and the operation proved eminently successful, even if it has since kept our Government bonds at a more or less fictitious price as compared with other national issues. After fifty years of existence, however, the old system has shown that it was becoming inadequate to meet the growing demands of the country."

"At the time of the Civil War the Government undertook to issue currency on its own credit and the sinister influence of the greenbacks in the economic phase of the country for many years afterwards is well known. The new banking system now inaugurated contemplates a considerable addition to the circulation medium by the issue of Federal Reserve notes, under the supervision of the Federal Reserve Board at Washington."

"Just so far as those in control of the new system exercise moderation and conservatism in connection with inherent expansion implicit in the Federal Reserve Act, just so far will past excesses and mistakes be avoided."

ANOTHER INSULT.
Until satisfactory explanation is made of the firing upon the United States flag at Smyrna by the Turkish soldiers, the question of the insult to the flag of our nation will remain a blot upon the nation. There is no need to become a jingoist and demand war with Turkey; there is no necessity for armed intervention, but still respect for the American flag must be taught the world and maintained. The Oshkosh Northwestern says of the incident that:

"American officials and the American people generally will wait with interest for the full details of the incident reported from Smyrna, where it is claimed a launch from the United States vessel 'Hennepin' was fired on by Turkish gunners. The commander of the Tennessee has officially reported the occurrence, but the circumstances and details are not yet known by the public, even if they have been given to the Washington administration. It is very plain, however, that the affair is regarded as of considerable importance, in some respects bearing a similarity to the so-called flag insult which occurred at Tampico last spring. And with the Tampico incident and its results still fresh in mind, many Americans doubtless will feel some uneasiness over the occurrence at Smyrna, less the latter may likewise lead to serious international complications."

"It is to be hoped, however, that nothing of this kind will follow and that the Smyrna incident will be straightened out without friction or unpleasantness. Already it is suggested that satisfactory explanations may be found and offered for the apparently unfriendly act committed by the Turkish gunners, which either may show it was the result of a plain mistake, or was due to some unintentional fracture of rules pertaining to the safeguarding of the port of Smyrna. In any case if Turkey disavows involvement, or can offer reasonable explanation for the act committed, the administration will not go any farther."

"It is unbelievable that a launch would be picked a quarrel. The two countries are on the best of terms, and the nature of their friendly relations would be even more serious for Turkey than for this nation. The chances therefore are that the Smyrna incident will be explained in a satisfactory manner and without prejudice to either side. At the same time it will give the American people a little jar, by reminding them that when war is in the air it takes good leadership to escape the contagion."

POSTAL SAVINGS.
The war in Europe is proving a big boon to postal savings in this country. From the very day hostilities opened across the seas postal-savings receipts began to increase by leaps and bounds and withdrawals fell off, a result contrary to the predictions of many well-informed persons who, in their imagination, saw lines of feverish depositors at post-office pay windows anxious to again return their savings to the boot-leg and body-bait depositories whence they came before intrusted to Uncle Sam. But the forecasters failed to reckon on the absolute confidence of the American citizen, regardless of the flag that first met his eyes, in the ability of the United States Government to carry out its obligations, not only among the nations of the earth, but with the humblest citizen of our land."

Two important results have followed; thousands of people, largely of foreign birth, accustomed to send their savings abroad, are now patrons of our postal-savings system; an enormous sum of actual cash have been released for commercial uses among our own people at a time when the need for every available dollar is pressing."

The growth of postal savings in the United States has been steady and healthy and the system has filled an important gap between the tin-can depository and the factory paymaster. On July 1, when affairs were running smoothly here and abroad and the transmission of money across the Atlantic was safe and expeditious, there was approximately $43,000,000 of postal savings standing to the credit of about 388,000 depositors. Since then over $10,000,000 of deposits have been added and the number of depositors has increased enormously. This unprecedented gain is the more striking when it is considered that the net gain in the last three months is larger than the gain for the entire fiscal year 1914. Scores of offices have done more postal savings business since the war has been going on than was done by them during the previous existence of the service. The increases are confined to no special localities, but have been felt in every nook and corner of the country. New York City alone made a gain in September of more than a million, while Brooklyn showed a relatively big increase. Chicago reported a larger gain in the past three months than for the previous twelve months. More than 7,000 new accounts were opened during the period, bringing the number of depositors in that city up to over 21,000."

Zero weather brings home to the public the suffering and want that exists throughout the country. It is bad enough in this country at best, but what must it mean to the unfortunate people in the war zone, with homes, property, work, everything destroyed these winter days. They must be fed and cared for and the Gazette is ready to forward sums raised for this purpose to the proper authorities."

Some men will buy lead nickels at ten cents apiece and would turn down an offer of five dollar gold pieces at fifty cents each. Thus is the world made up and if it were put for the lead nickel variety of investors the fly by night investment companies would not be able to exist."

These are the days that the ant is glad that even during the summer it worked while the poor grasshopper becomes unkind fate and freezes and starves."

If one believed all the various war reports from various sources they could only reach one conclusion and that is, that the war is all over and all the armies are retreating. Yet the fighting continues with unabated vigor."

Former Mayor Rose has sung his political swan song. Well, Dave has been a first-class fighting man for years some way or other this year he slipped up on something and Milwaukee county went back to the socialists."

Judge Taft is in Chicago today and says he is merely like a man up an apple tree watching proceedings. He refuses to discuss politics and strange to say so does Colonel Roosevelt. Of course in Roosevelt's case it is not unexpected."

La Follette is going to make a try to land his man as speaker of the next legislature to try and save what remnants of his faction he can as a nucleus for the senatorial campaign two years from now."

TENDER FAREWELL PARTY
TO MRS. WM. HENNESSEY
AT HOME LAST EVENING

Mrs. William Hennessey, who has been staying the past few months with her mother, Mrs. W. H. Parker, was pleasantly surprised last evening when twenty of her friends walking in upon her to spend the evening. The time was spent in playing games and music. Several selections were rendered by Mr. Moon and Mrs. John Doran. A three course supper was

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR COMPOUND FOR CROUP.

Croup scares you. The loud hoarse croupy cough, choking and gasping for breath, labored breathing, call for immediate relief. The very first doses of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound will master the croup. It cuts the thick mucus, clears away the phlegm and opens up and eases the air passages. Harold Berg, Mass, Mich., writes: "We give Foley's Honey and Tar to our children for croup and it always acts quickly." Every user is a friend.—W. T. Sherer.

JOHN DAWSON DIED OF APOPLEXY TODAY WHILE GOING HOME

Old City Employee, Aged 73, Succumbs Shortly Before Noon in Doherty Implement Shop.

While on his way home about eleven forty, this morning, John Dawson, aged 73, and an old city employee, who resided at 304 S. High street, was stricken with apoplexy, and taken into the Philip B. Doherty Implement shop, where he died ten minutes later. He has made Janesville his home for 30 years.

He was first seen leaning against the Doherty Implement shop window on the Court street bridge by Mr. Doherty, who noticed that he was pale and was taken inside and Drs. Woods and Fred Sutherland summoned. But he died shortly after. He was removed to the Doherty Implement shop, where he died ten minutes later. He has made Janesville his home for 30 years.

Besides a widow, he leaves to mourn his loss, a daughter, Katherine, and one son, Richard, both of this city. He was a brother of the late Mr. Dawson of this city.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. Interment will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

ITALIAN IN COURT FOR POINTING GUN

St. Paul Railway Employee Charged With Aiming Revolver at R. Palmer, Another Italian.

Fred Palatine, an Italian employed on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, was arraigned in the municipal court this afternoon, on the state's charges made by R. Palmer, for pointing and aiming a revolver at the court plaintiff. Palatine plead not guilty and he was committed to the county jail to await his trial which was set for Monday at 10 o'clock. Five hundred dollars bail was named by the court.

Palatine was arrested shortly after 10 o'clock by Chief of Police Champion at the Italian grocery store at the corner of Washington and Pleasant street, for trouble alleged to have been caused by the Italian at the Palmer residence on North Washington street last night. It appears that Palmer had taken a bad beating away from Palatine, which he had lent him, and the Italian sought redress at the point of the gun. It is said Palatine entered the Palmer house, demanded entrance and threatened to kill the family.

RECORD FIRE DRILL AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

Students Emptied Building in One Minute and Sixteen Seconds—S. C. Burnham Sent in Alarm.

A record fire drill was held at the high school yesterday when the students emptied the building in exactly one minute and sixteen seconds. The new gong system was used, and it worked very satisfactorily. S. C. Burnham, clerk, turned in the alarm, which the students were instantly engaged in their studies. The sound of the gong came as a surprise, and until the school was emptied, the students and faculty did not know whether there was a fire or not. Mr. Burnham was the only one who knew that the building was free from flames. The students were cool-headed, and the drill showed much improvement over all past ones.

O. E. S. STUDY CLASS HAVE "LETTER DAY"

Members of the O. E. S. study class attended the "letter day" reunion meeting which was held this afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Ashcraft, residing at 104 West Milwaukee street. Letters were received from honorary members that were absent.

Twenty-two members responded by communications, sending messages of love and cheer to the class from the different cities where they now reside. Several western states were represented. These letters were read to the class by Mrs. William Tallman and Mrs. Frank Strickler, and were received with much pleasure. One of the letters contained a view of the Yakima valley in Washington. A short musical program was given and refreshments closed the meeting.

DEAF AND DUMB MUTE FOUND AT AVALON BY COUNTY AUTHORITIES

Charley Bodoin, the deaf mute, who yesterday was sent by the Janesville police to his home in Racine, is back in Janesville again. This time the man at the county jail and was sent to Racine today by the county officials.

When placed on the morning train Tuesday, Bodoin was bewildered by the racket of getting off the train and missing connections. He walked to Avalon, where a phone message brought Turnkey William Wagon to take him in custody. He was taken to the jail and this time did not take fright at the sight of the cells, but when he saw the features of Joe Reitz, he started his disheveled hair.

This morning he was cleaned up and a card placed around his neck with instructions to the train men to see that he was cared for until he reached his destination.

YOUNG SCOTTY MEETS POSY WILLIAMS MONDAY IN MILWAUKEE BOUT

Young Scotty, the champion featherweight of Jones Island, will appear against "Posy" Williams, a rugged Milwaukee 124-pounder, in a six round boxing contest in Milwaukee Monday night. The bout will be a preliminary match before the round bout between Ritchie Mitchell and "Peanuts" Schiebel. Mitchell is meeting a tough foe in Schiebel, who recently held Matty McCue, a lightweight, to a good draw.

The Scotty-Williams bout is at 124 pounds. Scotty giving his opponent several pounds weight advantage. The Jones Islander should defeat Williams with ease.

CONGREGATIONAL BROTHERHOOD HAD INTERESTING TOPIC

"Problems of Local Churches" was the topic of Congregational Brotherhood at their monthly meeting held last evening in the church parlors. Speakers touched on the financial, architectural, spiritual and social phases of the church following an excellent repast at the supper hour. H. M. Dedrick presided. The brotherhood as a whole endorsed the appointment plan. The next meeting will be on the evening of the second Wednesday in December.

ALONE, BONNIE LASS COMES TO JANESVILLE

Chic Little Scotch Miss Arrives After Strenuous Journey From Land of the Thistle.

Lucinda Hull, a bright blonde lass from Scotland, arrived in Janesville this morning. The little eighteen year old Scotch girl ended a tedious journey from Glasgow and told her experiences to a reporter who happened to meet her at the depot, as a police officer was attempting to get into communication with her friends.

The reporter thought a lassie from the home port of Harry Lauder should be attired in multicolor plaid, but Miss Hull had none of this. Her clothes were of the latest American pattern, and with her dancing black eyes she appeared as a typical American girl.

Against the wishes of her sister at Glasgow, her parents being dead, the little lass began the journey to the United States on Nov. 5, and arrived in New York City on Sunday. On the trip across she said the voyage was the only passenger that did not suffer with seasickness.

The seas were comparatively free from German warcraft, and the trip was made without steamer lights blanketed.

All Scotland was in turmoil over the war, she said. Excitement filled every night and corner. The men were continually leaving for England, where they embarked for France and the front. Many of the young men she knew had been pressed into service when the reserve corps of the Highlanders.

Some had been already listed among the casualties and she expected many more to never return to sunny Scotland.

At the first call for troops the Scotch lads responded instantly and for a period of a month or more all Scotland was a great military camp.

As in other countries following the declaration of war, the Scotch also were upon the march. Gold and silver disappeared from circulation and prices of foodstuffs soared sky high.

Everybody awaited the war extras, which were not expected to meet at all hours of the day and night.

Miss Hull is well educated and attended for a number of years the schools of Glasgow, where she was born. Her parents have been dead for several years.

She will make her home at Maple Lawn Farm, owned by E. J. McLay, in the town of La Prairie.

She was greatly impressed with the day, to which he belonged, and by which he was paid in good coin of the realm. Being a very great man, and therefore able to "hold the mirror up to nature" with a force and fidelity never before possessed by a playwright, he made at one, and the same time a good-sized fortune and an everlasting fame.

MURDER THEORY HELD IN NUDE CORPSE CASE

Remains of Man Found on Tracks Near Stoughton and Conditions Point to Murder.

No new developments as to the identity of the body of the middle aged man, found yesterday morning on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway right of way between Edgerton and Stoughton, had arisen at noon today.

At the Stoughton morgue where the half nude remains were taken, a great many people viewed the body this morning and yesterday.

The features were badly marred and identification was made almost impossible. That the man was murdered is the belief of Stoughton officers. Marks on the head and face and neck lead to this assumption.

PERSONAL INJURY CASE IS STARTED

William Wells Seeks Damages From August Koepflin in Action Now On Trial Before Jury.

The case of William Wells, against August Koepflin, both of the town of Spring Valley, a personal injury action, was started this afternoon before a jury in Judge Grimm's court.

The plaintiff seeks to recover damages which he claims to be due following an accident in which the defendant, driving a light touring car, crashed into a wood-sawing outfit on a public highway. Wells had his leg broken and his feet badly bruised so that he has been unable to carry on his farm business according to the opening statement of his counsel, G. G. Sutcliffe, land, L. A. Avery of the firm of Jeffries, Mount, Oestreich and Avery, is the lawyer for the defendant.

Following the taking of testimony today in the case of Sampson vs. Rime, Orfordville parties, Judge Grimm granted the motion for non-suit, made in behalf of the defendant by Attorney C. E. Pierce.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

DIFFERENT KINDS OF LAUGHTER
DON'T you just hate to be laughed at? queried Molly, the little stenographer, with the warmth of one who speaks from recent and bitter experience.
"Depends," said the Author-man thoughtfully.
"On what?" said Molly.
"On the character of the laugh and the character of the person who laughs it."

After a moment's consideration, Molly agreed.
And so do I,—especially.
A laugh is almost as great a variable as the tone of the human voice. The same words spoken in different tones may convey dislike, neutrality or affection. Similarly a laugh may be an insult or a caress.
There are almost as many laughs as there are human emotions.
For instance, there is that most exasperating and unbearable of all laughter, the sneering, superior laugh. I know a man who has a way of greeting, any minor mistake his wife may make with a hard little laugh that is packed full of sense of his own superiority. It exasperates his wife more than any other thing, and leaves him secure in the maddening position of having said nothing which she can answer. That is one of the noteworthy things about laughter, by the way,—that it is so unanswerable. Let two people be arguing before a group, and let one of them say something witty enough to make the audience laugh, and no matter how untenable his position or how unfair his witicism, he has his hearers with him and his antagonist has lost their sympathy.
To take as great a contrast as possible, can anything be sweeter or more tender than the laugh which the whimsically, the quaintly, the little faults of one whom we love call forth? Who does not like to be laughed at in that tone? Indeed such a laugh does not laugh at you at all but with you at your own little faults and follies, and there is an "I love you" in every note of it.
The flattering laugh is another familiar variety of laughter. This is the laugh which the socially clever keep always on tap. Whenever you say anything which can be construed as a criticism it is ready to say anything you are sure to leave the presence of anyone talented in this direction, agreeably convinced of your ability as an entertainer.
"Laughter leaves us doubly serious shortly after," said Lord Byron, and it is certainly true, but not of all laughter merely of the bravado kind. Haven't you known nervous, high-strung people who laughed, and "carried on" most heartily when they were anxious or overwrought, and haven't you learned to recognize the half hysterical note in their laughter?
Laughter is associated with joy, and tears with sorrow, yet we do not always laugh when we are happiest or cry when we are saddest, by any means.
Do you remember the picture of Melancholia in Kipling's "The Light That Failed"? It was a girl who had seen all the sorrow in the world and threw back her head and laughed at it. And on the other hand, are not life's most exquisite moments "nearer still to tears than laughter," as a queer old word of contradictions this is when you stop to think of it.

Heart and Home Problems

BY MRS. EDNA B. THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson, I am sixteen and am married. My husband is nineteen. He stayed at home when we were first married, six weeks ago. Now he goes out nights and leaves me alone. He never tells me where he is going and doesn't get back till nearly morning. I still love him. I would like to have him stay at home. Do you think he still loves me? Please advise me what to do.
LOVELY WIFE.
My poor girl, the fact that you are too young to be married, both of you, accounts for much of your trouble. You have a very difficult task ahead of you, but have courage and remember her first, never make a scene over your husband's or coming. It will not help matters, but only drive him farther from you. Second, try to be as cheery and happy as possible, at least when he is around. Why not invite some young people in? Have some simple refreshments, such as wafers and tea, play games, dance, have music, make home such a cheerful place that he will want to stay there. He is just a boy wanting a boy's good time. Give it to him at home. Make him as comfortable as possible. You are very young to have the responsibilities of a woman, but difficulty and sorrow develop girls very rapidly and

WHAT $10 DID FOR THIS WOMAN

The Price She Paid for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Which Brought Good Health.

Danville, Va.—"I have only spent ten dollars on your medicine and I feel so much better than I did when the doctor was treating me. I don't suffer any bearing down pains at all now and sleep well. I cannot say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills as they have done so much for me. I am enjoying good health now and owe it all to your remedies. I take pleasure in telling my friends and neighbors about them."—MRS. MATTIE HALEY, 501 Colquhoun Street, Danville, Va.
No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.
This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

GRANDMA JEZ—THE ONLY KIND OF A BUNDLE THAT SOME LATE SHOPPERS BRING HOME ON CHRISTMAS EVE. IS A BOTTLE OF WHISKY. AND A LADY

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

SIMPLE HOME REMEDIES.

To Unfortunate Sufferers From Emissions, Malaria or Any Form of Ague.—Buy dried raisins—those the stems are best; boil them until they are soft and pour off the water. Take a half cup of this, warm, about a half hour before breakfast and as many times during the day as convenient and the strength of one's stomach will permit. In addition to this keep a plate of dried raisins near you as you would candy, and eat as many as possible. Before going to bed drink another half cup of the warm and somewhat weakened. At this time of the year the decaying vegetation is especially hard on malaria victims. Let them keep out of the night air as much as possible, sleep on the second or open their windows from the top, never the bottom. If these simple rules are observed and the raisin remedy is faithfully adhered to, I can promise relief from one of the most prevalent and enervating diseases to which people are heir.
For Cold in Lungs.—Take clean piece of cotton to fit chest or back. Spread with lard, then grate over a little nutmeg. Put on a few drops of oil of peppermint. Warm it and cup to affected parts. Very good to prevent pneumonia.

THE TABLE.

Roast Beef Hash.—Chop remains of cold roast beef, one season to taste, add minced onion, cook slowly (adding little water or milk) until mixture thickens. Have ready baked individual pastry shapes. Fill these with hash, dot with butter. Place in oven until browned. Serve hot.
Oven Kuchen No. 1.—Make dough same as for any kind of kuchen. When it has risen ready to put in the tin (rolled quite thin), have the onions cut up rather coarse and let simmer very slowly in a large spoon of fat (don't let it fry to get brown). The onion can be got ready the day before if preferred. As soon as kuchen dough is put in the tin spread the onion all over it, add one cup cream and two eggs beaten and added to the cream; pour over cake and bake.
Thanksgiving Spice Cake.—One cup bread sponge, one cup sugar, one cup raisins (chopped), one-half cup oil, one egg, one cup sour milk, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon allspice, one-half teaspoon cloves, one-fourth teaspoon salt; flour enough to make soft cake batter. Cream and sugar, beat and mix; then egg (beaten), sour milk, raisins, spices and salt; lastly add flour and soda sifted together. Bake in loaf.

Hot Stew.—Cut half head cabbage into small pieces, add water, salt, pepper and one tablespoon butter, four tablespoons vinegar, pepper and salt. Serve hot.
Nut Bread.—One-half cup brown sugar, one-half cup granulated sugar, one cup sweet milk, one egg, two tablespoons melted butter, one cup chopped nuts, one-fourth teaspoon salt, three cups sifted flour, three teaspoons baking powder. Let mixture stand in refrigerator half an hour. Bake in loaf.

Popovers.—Two eggs, one cup milk, one cup flour, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Beat eggs some, add milk to eggs, then flour, beat and pour into hot buttered cups. Bake in oven.

Apple Sauce.—Take six medium sized, mealy, spicy apples, peel and slice thin and mash with potato masher. Add six drops of lemon oil, one cup sugar and one-half cup butter. Bake in well-buttered pan and serve with cream and sugar or vanilla sauce.

The Living Room Window Box For the Long Winter Months

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—The indoor window box, properly planned and tended, will afford much pleasure and satisfaction to the housewife who misses her out of door garden during the winter months. It is a mistaken notion that plants when kept in living rooms use up certain elements of the air in such quantities as to make it unhealthy for individuals using the room. It is much harder on plants to be in a room with people than for people to be in a room with growing plants. Plants, indeed, use air, but use such a small proportion that the effect of the plant in the room is negligible if the room is ventilated at all. This also holds good for out doors. Plants will grow in a room, although the odor of some flowers may be depressing to the patient, and bad for that reason.
A good depth for an indoor window box is about twelve inches. The bottom of the box should be covered with stones and broken pottery to give drainage, and this should be covered by a layer of moss to prevent the soil above from working down through the box. The main drainage should take up about three inches. The greater the body of soil above the moss the more uniform it may be kept as to moisture. The soil should come to within an inch and a half or two inches of the top of the box.
The indoor window box should be made to fit into the window. To get as much light as possible it should be level with the window. It may be fastened with brackets or placed on a table or have legs made for it. There should be a drip pan beneath the box to keep water from soiling the floor. The box may rest directly above the drip pan on legs half an inch to an inch high. The box may be better tight with the exception of a hole at one end to let the water out.
The top of the soil should be allowed to become quite dry once in a while. The results of watering will teach the owner to regulate the supply. Boxes may need watering in sunny weather (especially toward spring) every day, or at least every other day; in cloudy mid-winter weather not more than once a week. As a rule it is better to water lightly and frequently than heavily and infrequently. The specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture advises this, although just the reverse is considered best when watering is done out doors.

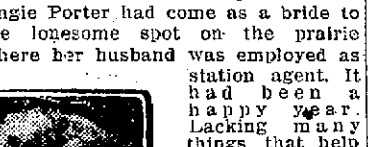

Foliage Not Flowers.

A large proportion of the plants in a window box should be of the same general character if the growth is to be uniform. Plants of different character need different treatment. It is very difficult to raise flowering plants in a window box with the exception of begonias. Ordinary flowering plants are very exacting, and will not find enough light in the ordinary living room, even though placed near the window, although they may do well in a conservatory. The main object of an indoor window box is to furnish the fresh appearance of growing green leaves rather than to raise flowers indoors.
The department of agriculture's specialist makes the following suggestions for a window box: Begonias are one of the most attractive plants that may be used for an indoor box. Both flowering and non-flowering varieties will give satisfaction; in fact, the flowering variety is one of the few plants that will blossom indoors without special cultivation. The begonia is not very particular in its requirements and will flourish with ordinary care.
Small ferns obtained from a florist will flourish. These are particularly adapted to house culture, as they do not require direct sunlight. (Care of ferns will be described in greater detail in a subsequent article.)
Even more hardy than ferns is the foliage plant known as the aspidistra. This adaptable plant-growth will stand a measure of neglect, drought, and dust and still thrive. It does not require direct sunlight.
Geraniums may also be used as foliage plants, though they must not be expected to blossom in the window box.
Kenilworth ivy may be planted along the edge. It will grow nicely from seed.
Smilax may be grown from the back of the box, and trained up about the window to give the effect of an attractive bower.
The inexperienced grower of plants indoors cannot expect to do well with roses. These plants are most exacting, and not only will they probably fail to flower, but also their foliage may be affected by mildew, blight, etc. The ordinary individual who desires other varieties of growing flowers, may supplement his window box with flowering potted plants brought from outside, including bulbs raised as described in a previous article of this series. These will probably keep their leaves and flowers better than those which are fond of plants will, of course, obtain better results with blooming varieties after many trials. Some have dealt with very difficult problems which they have solved successfully, but the present suggestions are meant for the novice as well as the more experienced grower.

The Wife's Money

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

More than a year had passed since Angie Porter had come as a bride to the lonesome spot on the prairie where her husband was employed as station agent. It had been a happy year, and Angie's lack of many things that help make life pleasant, they had risen above the untoward conditions and achieved a rare comradeship.
They took turns going to town to buy books and delicacies not to be obtained at the station for Angie could carry on the business as well as her husband.
The summer had been very trying, as almost no rain had fallen. The August heat was intolerable; the drought had parched the prairie till the brown grass was like wire and the leaves of the vine hung limp.
"Angie, will you go to the station? I'm near to my wits' end. I must lie down a little while. I feel sick," said Carl Porter one hot afternoon, coming into the darkened living room and sinking down on the couch.
"Oh, I am so sorry, dear," said his wife, as she hurried away to the office.

When she returned half an hour later he had sunk into a troubled sleep. All night he tossed with a high fever and in the morning was delirious. She went to the office and telegraphed to a doctor who lived in a town forty miles away. He came on the noon train, and his kindly face was troubled as he looked the situation over. He called her out on the porch and sitting down by a table wrote out his directions.
"What ails him? What must I do?" she asked with wide, anxious eyes.
"He has typhoid fever," said the doctor. "I will leave what medicine he needs, but typhoid is more a matter of nursing than medicine. I will write out two or three times a day and keep in best way. We come down whenever necessary. Who can you get to help you?"
"There is a fourteen-year old girl at the grocery store who will come, I think," she answered in a dazed way. "All that she has to do is to stay far into mellow October she watched with feverish anxiety by the bedside. With the help of the operator at the next station she had fitted up a telegraph instrument in the living room, so that part of the work on the station could be conducted near the bedside of the sick man.
The girl and a neighbor woman relieved her watch in the daytime and enabled her to get some rest between trains every day. Everyone tried to ease the wife's heavy burden. The doctor came and stayed night and day during the crisis and brought the patient through. "It's the nursing, little woman," he said as he wrung her hand at parting.
Slowly the patient came back to health and strength. One evening they sat on the porch watching the leaf shadows and white patches of moonlight on the floor.
"Dear little bread winners," he whispered, "how have you ever stood of three people? I know what to do so that I could run the station," the wife replied. "As it is, the doctor's bill will not make a very big hole in our savings. The wife's money has helped out this time," and she stroked the thin hair lovingly.

Every Day Talks To Every Day People

BY FRANCES JOYCE KENNEDY.

Foolish is the man or woman who will try to make a steamer trunk out of a suit-case. Equally foolish is the endeavor to make of this space a recipe book, but requests for certain recipes are received and today's space is given over to their printing.
Vegetarian Mince-meat: The ingredients required are three points of chopped apples, three points of chopped green tomatoes, four cups of brown sugar, one and one-third cups of vinegar, three cups of raisins, three teaspoons of cinnamon, one teaspoon of allspice, same amount of mace, two teaspoons of salt and three-quarters cup of butter. Mix the apples, tomatoes and raisins, add the remaining ingredients, except the butter. Bring gradually to a boil and let simmer for three hours. Then add the butter. Turn into glass jars and seal.
Apple Biscuit: Take six medium sized, mealy, spicy apples, peel and slice thin and mash with potato masher. Add six drops of lemon oil, one cup sugar and one-half cup butter. Bake in well-buttered pan and serve with cream and sugar or vanilla sauce.
Pot Roast: Chop a piece of beef suet and brown in a frying pan. Fry a chopped onion in this fat. When onion is well cooked put in the beef, a piece of round beef, about three pounds, and brown well on all sides. The beef should first be salted and peppered. Remove meat to a deep sauce-pan. Then add one and one-half tablespoons of flour to the fat in the frying pan and brown; then add a cupful of water, stirring constantly. Pour this gravy over the meat in the sauce-pan and cover. Cook on a slow fire for three hours until meat is tender, turning the roast often with a fork. It will be necessary to add a little water now and then, as the gravy will cook down. Serve with potatoes, carrots and peas.

Fruit Cakes: Beat one egg lightly; add two-thirds of a cupful of sugar, one tablespoonful of lard, one-half cupful of milk or water, a pinch of salt, one heaping teaspoonful of baking powder, and enough flour to make a stiff batter. Pour into a well-buttered pan, ready and drop a small portion in each, take a fork and drop a few cherries on each, then add the remainder of the cake batter on top. Any fruit will take the place of cherries, and these, when baked, will make delightful little cakes for lunch baskets, as the fruit keeps them moist.
Grandmother's Indian Pudding: Scald one cupful of sweet milk and stir into this enough corn meal to make stiff, about like bread. Add one cupful of molasses and let the mixture come to a boil. Salt well and spice with ginger and cinnamon. Bake between two and three hours. The slow, lengthy baking being better. Two cups of molasses quartered apples in this recipe is an improvement.
Bean Muffins: One cupful of mashed, baked beans, one egg, one cupful of flour and one-half cupful of Indian meal, one teaspoonful of baking powder, one cupful of milk, one cupful of sugar and a small spoon of salt. Beat very well and cook in muffin tins in a quick oven.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

The most pretentious presentation in pictures is "Neptune's Daughter" which will be presented at the Myers theatre for two days, November 23 and 24, with matinee daily, with Annette Kellermann, the famous swimmer, featured. The story is by Leslie Pearce and the film is seven reels of 500 scenes which required three months to produce. Two monarchs figure in the story: King William, the mortal, and King Neptune, the immortal. Neptune has two daughters, Annette and Angela; Miss Kellermann, of course, being Annette. Her little sister is caught in a fisherman's net, and dies. Annette, finding the body on the beach, she swears vengeance against the mortals who she believes slew her sister, and by means of a charm which will make her mortal or immortal at will, becomes an earth maiden instead of a mermaid and goes to earth to meet the king whom she holds responsible for Angela's death. She meets him without knowing who he is and falls in love with him. Invited to the state ball, she plans to kill the king, but her heart fails her when she recognizes him. Then she discovers that there is a conspiracy against him and she saves his throne and his life. In doing so she loses the charm which would make her a mermaid again and therefore, becomes queen.

of Eve," presents Felix Adler, the leading comedian and the girls most attractively costumed. The words of the song are clever and prove Addison Burkhardt, one of the authors, to be expert in the blending of lyric. The following is the refrain:

Girls, girls, daughters of Eve,
What would this world be without you?
Girls, girls, though you deceive,
Man is unwilling to doubt you.

Girls, girls, some folks believe,
Although Eve caused Adam pain,
If he had another spare-rib to spare
He'd spare it all over again.
There are about fifteen other musical numbers that are speedy and catchy. The comedy is fresh and happy, there is a well constructed plot too, that gives the principals ample opportunity to display not a little dramatic ability as well as giving color to the comedy scenes. Eva Fallon, Leonora Novasio, Henrietta Tedro, Joe Kang and James McEltherne are prominently cast, with Felix Adler in the star part.

Miss Leonora Novasio, in "One Girl in a Million" Big Musical comedy at Myers Theatre Wednesday, November 25, matinee and evening.

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Nov. 19.—The Young Ladies Auxiliary of the Congregational Church was entertained Saturday by Mrs. C. L. Hull, and the Misses Lillian Butler and Zerelle Stewart at the home of Mrs. Hull's mother, Mrs. D. B. Richmond. The sewing committee began their work early in the afternoon and many articles for the church bazaar to be held Saturday, November 21, were finished. At six o'clock the thirty young ladies were served to creamed chicken and all its accessories, and when the lights were turned out each guest was given a lighted candle with several marshmallows. The evening was spent in conversation while needles were pitting last stitches into fancy articles to be sold next Saturday. These social gatherings are much enjoyed by the young ladies of the church.

Mrs. Harry Malone came Wednesday to visit Mr. and Mrs. John Malone for a few hours returning this morning to her home in Chicago, taking her infant son, John home after his three weeks visit with his grandparents.

Miss Nora M. Wood leaves this evening for a winter in a warmer climate. She will meet James C. Ford and his daughter, Miss Edna, who have been visiting Mrs. Helen Ford Gardner in Detroit and will be in Milwaukee tonight enroute to their western home. They expect to go to California to spend several months in Los Angeles. Miss Wood's position in the Normal School will be filled by a substitute during her absence.

Mrs. Henry Bander was called to Spaulding Wednesday morning by the death of little Dorothy Griffin, the twelve months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Griffin. The child suffered from scalding water.

Mrs. Gilbert Anderson went to Madison on Tuesday to visit her father and family.

On The Spur of The Moment

The Soldier.

The soldier is a lucky dog
Some ways sure enough,
Although it may be said with truth,
His average life is tough.
While others stay at home and toll,
He only has to fight.
And he gets not the third degree
On the car with all at night.
Yes, true enough, this soldier brave
Doth go and risk his life,
But not from any rolling pin
That's wielded by his wife.
Collectors cannot bother him,
He stands where danger thrills;
The only place where he is safe
From gentlemen with bills.
He cannot run a touring car
And blow in all the dough
For gas and tires and other things
That make theatres go.
No needy guy can come along
And sell the soldier a man
A set of books he doesn't want,
On the installment plan.
He has no furnace fire to mind,
He does not pawn his soul
Once in two weeks as we do here,
To buy a ton of coal.

"Now, if the French can only take Bordeaux," said the Tall Thin Man on the car, "it will practically end the war in my opinion."

"Bordeaux, is not in Germany," said the Short Fat Man.

"Helltaint," said the Tall Thin Man.

"No," said the Conductor. "Bordeaux is one of the largest cities in Italy."

"Well, continued the Tall Thin Man, 'I hope the Germans will take the Bug River.'"

"They have already taken it," said the Short Fat Man.

"When did that happen?"

"They took it about 400 years ago," replied the Short Fat Man, "and they have had it ever since."

"You ain't been reading the newspapers, have you?"

"I haven't been eatin' 'em up," said the Tall Thin Man. "I see by the dispatches from Peterpod."

"Not Peterpod," said the Conductor. "Peterpod is a town."

"You're wrong," said the Short Fat Man. "It ain't Peterpod at all. It's Petrobrab."

"Well, whatever it is," continued the Tall Thin Man, "I see the Roobians have crossed into Italy and taken Moscow. That ought to be quite a victory. Now if the Belgians can only lick Serbia, it ought to settle matters."

"No doubt," said the Short Fat Man, "but can they do it?"

"I ain't sure about that," said the Conductor. "But I see somebody has took Prezezemel."

"Somebody has took what?"

"Prezezemel or Prezhimel or Prezezemel, or whatever it is."

"What did they want to take that for?" asked the Short Fat Man.

"The rheumatism?"

"It's a town," replied the Conductor. "A town somewhere in Switzerland."

"No, it ain't," said the Tall Thin Man. "It's a disease. Every army takes it once in awhile."

"You musta been rainin' up quite a bit on this war stuff," said the Short Fat Man. "The way everybody was takin' it, I thought Prezezemel was a patent medicine."

"I ain't done nothing else but read for two months," replied the Tall Thin Man. "And the more I read, the less I find out."

"Some here," said the Short Fat Man, "but if this Prezezemel thing is a disease, I hope I never take it."

"Here too," said the Conductor. "End of the line. All out."

Hard Winter Coming.

Haven't heard from any goose-bone prophets as yet, but other outward and visible signs of a white Christmas and a long hard winter are present and accounted for.

Chestnut trees are loaded with burrs to an unusual extent, which is said to be nature's way of giving squirrels a chance to store food. Woods are high indicating deep snow. Where there have been frosts it is reported the tips of the leaves on the hickory trees point skyward.

If the time had turned out to be a mild winter would have come along, sure's you're born, but now it's to be wind and snow a-plenty.

It's a good time to conserve the winter overcoat, and it might be well to take the sleigh from its roosting place on top of the story of the barn, see that the runners are in good shape and recall just where you put the sleigh bells.

At a special meeting of the city council held on Tuesday evening, it was voted to appoint a commission whose duty it shall be to take charge of the Brodhead municipal light and power plant, which will probably be done at the next regular meeting. Henry Schrader returned Wednesday from a visit at La Crosse.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hartman of Janesville, were guests of Brodhead friends and relatives on Wednesday. R. F. Lewis of Omaha, Nebraska, in the employ of the government as stockyards inspector, has been in Brodhead this week, looking after the cleaning up of the stock yards here.

Captain A. N. Randall, for many years a resident of Brodhead, had a stroke of apoplexy on Tuesday and lies in a precarious condition at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Bowen left Wednesday for a visit in Chicago. Lawrence Johnson is quite severely sick.

COMMERCIAL LOSSES OF GREAT BRITAIN IN COLOSSAL SUMS

In Two Months Time, It is Estimated
England's Trade Losses Amount to 325 Million.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Berlin, Nov. 19.—According to the Tagblatt, England's trade losses as a result of the war have amounted to $251,000,000 in two months. "The imports during the month of September," says the Tagblatt, "decreased in comparison with those of the same month in the preceding year by $22,000,000, the exports by $75,000,000. This means a trade loss for the one month of $160,000,000. Altogether the English importing business decreased since the beginning of the year—more correctly since the beginning of the war—in comparison with the previous year by $175,000,000, the export trade by $200,000,000. That means that the entire loss of the English commerce, which is entirely dependent on foreign trade, already amounts to $75,000,000 and if the war continues for a few more months must surely increase to several billions.

The damage to the international trade is certainly not small in Germany, either, but the absolute figures are much higher for England. Then, too, the situation is much better for Germany than for England because Germany's commerce is much more dependent on the consumption of the internal market and much less dependent on export. In order to preserve equilibrium, England has industries which work entirely for exportation and which constitute the backbone of her industrial capacity. At the head of these stands the cotton industry, and this alone suffered a decrease in September in the exportation of goods of $15,000,000. The loss in line is the exportation of wool with a loss of $6,500,000 in a single month. The importation of raw materials has also decreased correspondingly, in cotton by $6,000,000, in wool by $3,500,000.

The consequence of this condition is that the English freighting which the war can presumably not affect has also suffered an enormous loss. In the month of September the incoming 222,000 tons of goods from the British flag in English ports only amounted to 1,500,000 tons in contrast to 3,000,000 tons flying a foreign flag also decreased from 1,600,000 to 900,000 tons. That is a very dangerous symptom for every one who knows that England's strongly passive trade is dependent on the high revenues of the freight business for the equalization of its paying balance. Mr. Lloyd George will soon cease his consoling speeches and will have to seek consolation in a study of the balance of the English commerce."

EASILY ARRANGED.

Do you realize that you would require a large income to surround my daughter with the luxury to which she has been accustomed?

"Yes, your daughter said the same thing, so to make sure, we had better live right at home with you."

COUNTESS GREY ENTERTAINS WOUNDED AT HER COUNTRY ESTATE

At Howick Castle, Northumberland, the beautiful estate of the Countess Grey, there are many wounded Belgian and British soldiers recuperating from their wounds. The photo shows Joseph Jacobs, a sergeant in the Tiresome regiment and a student at the University of Louvain, showing his wounds and narrating his experiences to two of the workers at Howick Castle. Sergeant Jacobs is only eighteen years old, but was in every engagement with the Belgians from Liege to Malines, where he was severely injured.

Too Much for Mother.

A Pasadena boy asked his father what was meant by the expression: "The woman had a Greek profile." The father put down the paper he was reading and replied: "Why, it merely means a classic outline." The mother took a hand, declaring the answer was too short and really a shifty euphemism. "Give our son a long and clear answer," she insisted. Paterfamilias sat up and made this lucid, ornate reply: "A Greek profile is a bold silhouette, blending the Doric and Ionian expression and depicting that clear-cut plastic work of Praxiteles, which is entirely free from the rococo renaissance school and which in modern melodrama, would be called the marble face." Both mother and son took the count, and father resumed his reading of the article: "Why Oysters Have Strong Lungs." —Pasadena News.

From Both Sides.

Steamers plying between England and Holland have been equipped with apparatus by which all their lifeboats can be launched from either side of a vessel.

No Cause to Worry.

"Theosophy," said Mrs. Gossip, "just think: One-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives!" "Never mind, dear," replied her long-suffering husband, "that isn't your fault."

SAVE YOUR HAIR! IF IT IS FALLING OR FULL OF DANDRUFF--25 CENT DANDERINE

LADIES! MEN! HERE'S THE QUICK-EST, SUREST DANDRUFF CURE KNOWN.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp! of dandruff—that awful scurf! There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—anytime—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.
